

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, September 23. 1719.

London, September 23.

Yesterday arrived the Mail from Holland of Friday.

From the Hague Courant, dated Sept. 29.

Rome, September 9.

THE Princess Sobiesky is arrived at Montefiascone, having been met on the Way by the Pretender and the Bishop of that Place, who conducted her to the Church, where the said Bishop confirmed her Marriage with the Chevalier. In the Evening they supped in Publick. The Princess made a Present to the Bridegroom of a Cane, the Head of which was set with a large Emerald, and 3 Diamonds round it, besides a Gold Watch and a Box, both set with Diamonds of great Value. The Bridegroom, who is expecting his Equipage from Spain, could make no other Return but to present her with a Jewel he received at Madrid from the King of Spain. He has since notified his Marriage to the Princes of Rome, and the foreign Ministers by circular Letters.

From the Amst. Gaz. and Hag. Cour. Sept. 29.

Legborne, Sept. 9. The two Spanish Gallies that lay in this Port, are sailed for Porto-Longone. The Spanish Officers who were raising Troops in the Country hereabouts, and transported them from hence to Porto-Longone, have left this Place, pursuant to the Great Duke of Tuscany's late Orders.

Revel, Sept. 7, N. S. On the 4th Instant, the Muscovite Fleet came into the Road of this Port, where they lie at Anchor, expecting Orders from his Czarish Majesty either to remain here or to go to Cronslot. The Fleet left the Czar at Lameiland, whence he had sent for a Galliot, in which he intended to imbark at Birckeneiland for Petersbourg. The Muscovites lost a good Number of Men in the Resistance they met with from the Swedes in some Places where they landed to ravage the Country, about a Thousand Men have been brought a-shore and put into the Hospitals of this Town, and others were left at Abo.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Sept. 29.

Vienna, Sept. 16. Count Windisohgratz set out from hence on the 14th Instant for the King of Great Britain's Dominions, with certain Commissions from the Emperour. From thence he is to proceed to the Hague, to reside there in Quality of the Emperour's Envoy Extraordinary to the States General. Baron Penteriditer is to set out for Paris this or next Week, with the Character of Minister Plenipotentiary : He will be declared Privy-Councillour before his Departure, and in case of a Negotiation for Peace with Spain, he will be appointed one of the Plenipotentiaries. It is said Count Staremberg is to go to London in December next, with the same Character Count Gallas formerly had there. On the 14th, the second Archduches, Daughter of their Imperial Majesties, entered the 2d Year of her Age, which Anniversary was solemnized at Court. The Lord Forbes is on his Departure for Great Britain, from whence it is believed he will come back next Spring. He has received 5000 Crowns on the Emperour's Part, for defraying the Expences of his Journey hither, and of his Stay in this Place. Fevers and Dysenteries are very rife here. The Lines round the Suburbs are lining with Brickstones for their better Defence.

Copenhagen, Sept. 19, N. S. By Letters from Stockholm of the 13th of September, N. S. we have Advice, that the Squadron of British Men of War commanded by Sir John Norris, having been joined by the Swedish Fleet off Carlscoorn, arrived at the Dahlern on the 6th, to the unspeakable Joy of the People of Stockholm and of the neighbouring Country. The Muscovite Fleet was retired towards Revel and their other Ports : The Gallies with the Troops they had on board were retired towards Abo.

Berlin, Sept. 19. M. Kniphausen sets out from hence this Evening for Hanover, with Instructions to make the King of Prussia's Compliments of Thanks to his Britannick Majesty, for procuring by his Mediation a Convention of Peace between the Crowns of Sweden and Prussia. His Prussian Majesty has ordered his Ministers to notify that Convention to M. Tolstoy, and to M. Mayer, the Muscovite and Danish Envoys at this Court.

Hanover, Sept. 26, N. S. The King set out for the Gohr on the 23d Instant, the Earl of Sunderland went thither Yesterday, and Earl Stanhope goes to Morrow. The English Gentlemen in this Place frequently pay their Respects Respects to his Royal Highness Prince Frederick, who receives them very courteously, and partly entertains them in their own Language. He has made a considerable Progress in the English Tongue, under the Care and Instructions of Mr. Hanet, to the great Satisfaction of the Nobility and others of the British Nation who have been here. And as his Royal Highness gives every Day Proofs of his excellent Parts, and expresses the utmost Desire of speaking English, it is not doubted but in a reasonable time he will be a thorough Master of that Language.

Portsmouth, Sept. 21. at Noon. The Fleet remained at St. Helens till about 9 a-Clock this Morning, when they weighed Anchor. They are now all out of Sight, and have a fine Gale at North East.

Memorandum for all concerned in the present Lotteries:

Just publish'd, The Gamester, N° 1. &c.
And this Week will be publish'd, The Gamester, N° 2. In which will be demonstrated what is laid down in Gamester N° 1. The great Advantage the Insurers upon Lottery Tickets have, proving their Wagers and Bets (under the specious Name of Insurable,) according to the Rules in Gamester, is unjust, unfair, and greater Odds than in Pharo, Fair Chance, and other worst and most unequal Games amongst us, and consequently no Bet. With some Observations how these evil and pernicious Practices aff & the sensible Decay of our Trade. As also a Scheme, by which any one may easily calculate the true Grounds of his Hope and Expectation, or their Just, and Real Value, as to the gaining of Prizes in 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, &c. Number of Tickets, as founded upon the new and lately discover'd Mathematical Principles concerning the Doctrine of Chances. The whi c containing very necessary and profitable Advice, Cautions and Instructions to all Persons whatever concerned in the present Lotteries. Sold by J. Roberts in Warwick-Lane.
